

About 10 feet (3,000 mm) of rain falls on the southern Caribbean coast yearly. This is somewhat less than the average over all of Costa Rica, and the dry season is also inverted in this area with September and October as two of the driest months. Yearly average temperature, 78 °F (25°C)

Puerto Viejo
 © Toucan Maps Inc.
 www.mapCR.com

Surfer's Guide to Costa Rica

The classic handbook on rips, curls and chillin' after. When and where to find the best breaks-how to get there and where to stay. ISBN 0967910005

100 Butterflies and Moths:
 Portraits from the Tropical Forests of Costa Rica
 Illustrated with gorgeous photographs accompanied by informative descriptions by the parents of lepidoptera research and the National Park system in Guanacaste. ISBN 067402334X